

What has been said about us so far.....

The Shrewsbury and Telford Hospital NHS Trust

“We are absolutely delighted that after an exhaustive selection procedure we chose the Patientband Laser Wristband Solutions. We have worked very closely with JL Group in developing exactly the style of products that suit us, with particular focus on patient comfort, ease of use for our nursing staff and the I.T. issues. We know we have a solution here that will help us meet our patient identification demands for many years.”

Carol Harvey – Matron for Nursing & Information Improvement

“From a Patient Safety angle Patientband wristbands satisfy every aspect of what we require and expect in a patient identification solution. Our patients will be happy in the knowledge that their safety and comfort were of paramount importance when we were making our decisions about which wristbands to choose for them to wear.”

Janet Portman – Patient Safety Team Manager

“I have worked closely with JL Group to develop the designs that provides us with the satisfaction of what we need today and going forward to meet future I.T. demands as well. What we have liked is the consultative approach that has led us forward in this project.”

Alex Atkinson – Deputy Head of Informatics

Harrogate and District NHS Foundation Trust

“At Harrogate and District NHS Foundation Trust we began implementing our wristband printing solution shortly after the NPSA's Safer Practice Notice was published in 2007. We decided from the outset that the most cost-effective solution and the one that suited us operationally was to utilise our existing laser printers. We sourced our wristband solutions through JL Group because of their hands-on and realistic approach towards giving us what we require. We initially bought Laserband adult wristbands through them, however when they introduced us to the Patientband offering we quickly realised that these new products were superior in terms of patient comfort and price, had much more scope and flexibility for printing. We have worked closely with JL Group during the product development stages, and we are delighted to have such a good working relationship with them.”
